A PDF page cutter is a software program that finds unneeded pages in a PDF document and outputs them as a separate file. a potential liability to appellee because the face of the policy did not read that it was within the policy limits. We hold that the face of the policy authorized coverage only within the limits of the policy. The face of the policy did not give the insured the right to elect whether to accept the policy in the face amount or to increase the face amount to something higher. This portion of the policy does not violate the rule of ejusdem generis. This court does not have the power to rewrite or add words to a contract. State Farm Mutual Auto. Ins. Co. v. Wilson, 36 Ark. App. 29, 818 S.W.2d 553 (1991); see also M.D.C. v. Moore, 685 F.Supp. 855 (E.D.Ark.1988). Appellant argues that Arkansas case law prohibits this court from holding that the policy is unambiguous. He argues that this court should hold that the policy is ambiguous, and that we should construe any ambiguities against the insurer. Citing City of Malvern v. Arkansas Blue Cross & Blue Shield, 315 Ark. 156, 866 S.W.2d 873 (1993). Appellant's arguments are not persuasive. We see no ambiguity in the language of the policy and hold that coverage was limited to the amount of coverage for the person or persons named in the policy. *23 On appeal, appellant also argues that the sum of $25,000 which was paid by Prudential to appellee should be credited to the coverage afforded by this policy. In Arkansas, an insurer is entitled to recover any funds paid to the injured party to discharge a contractual obligation. International Adjustment Co., Inc. v. General Box Co., 244 Ark. 1246, 1251, 429 S.W.2d 45, 48 (1968). The question of whether such payments are to be credited against future payments or simply applied pro tanto (to
