I have a EJB 3.0 that i need to upgrade to EJB 3.2 because my current application can't use JPA 2.0 (which it needs). I have a good set of documentation with me, but do not know what changes need to be done. A: In general, the advice in the Java EE 6 tutorial applies to EJB 3.2: If you are upgrading from the Java EE 5 (EJB 3) API, you need to think of EJB 3.2 as a completely separate API and use it as such. The two APIs provide different functionality, and must be used in a different manner. For example, in EJB 3.0, you obtained an EJB by invoking EJBContext.createEJB(). EJB 3.2 introduces a new EJBHome interface, which returns an EJB by name. These two concepts must not be confused. You can read more in the EJB 3.2 Migration Guide.
