What's new:

with Sunken Ruins The World Eating Game is a take on an old game called The World. In The World you start with a bound and blindfolded character. You then have a difficult time killing the world's population, while at the same time trying not to die yourself. This game is just like that, except with different characters. The game begins when you jump into an office cubicle and a phone rings. The person on the other side of the phone is groggy, but telling you to pick up a package at the office front desk. We didn't have any other missions to go to, so all you need to do is go through that office and pick it up. The package turns out to be a computer drive, and after it's installation we can start doing some missions. Today we'll be doing Tropical Island with Sunken Ruins. Along the way, we'll find plenty of cooked food, fresh food, junk food, locked doors, and treasure chests! Our goal is to get as many live food items as we can, without dying. You're Permitted to Eat Eating isn't necessarily the goal, so don't just become busy sneaking food to save your life. However, as you get more food items, you get an immediate message saying you can eat them. You are not put in the menu when you eat food items, so eating is permissible in this game. Feeding the Shark One of the perks of that phone call, is that you got a package from Crazy Crab. Crazy Crab isn't exactly the most trustworthy merchant in the game. He's more of the type where he'll take your money and stab you in the back if he can get away with it. But don't get me wrong, he has the ingredients for some delicious food! Crazy Crab package contains some Scamp, Dug Bug, and Tiramisu. After just a little bit of research, it turns out that those are food items from his favorite restaurant. So we need to get over there...but moving a lot of junk while not accidentally running into the Shark might not be the most practical plan. Instead, we'll just hope he wants to eat us. If you have the Shark Sought, and you have a Life Chain on the character, the Shark's
