The switchbot v3 adds the unique this little town with a temperature of 27 degrees F. is the warmest I've felt since our Arizona trip. In fact, it's the warmest I've felt around here for the last two months or so. After getting out of the car with my trench coat, I put my desert boots on and I think they were the warmest I've ever had on my feet. They are two for one deal so I'm a big fan of the Pioneer Footwear. I paid $60 for both. So, warm weather and comfortable shoes. That is my winter shopping list. Monday, October 2, 2010 I'm not in it for the tax write offs. The camera has nothing to do with this decision. I'm in it because I love blogging and sharing life with all of you. Thank you for taking the time to read my rambling thoughts on this blog. I hope that you enjoy what I have to offer and that I can take you with me wherever I go. I would love to hear your ideas and opinions. Please comment and let me know what you think. Friday, September 24, 2010 On the main drag of Mainstreet you will find the view above. It is a photo of me at the Painted Pony looking in at the antique shops on the other side of the street. The light is wonderful and the sun was setting and the antique shops were opening. They are still open on Friday and Saturday nights. I hope to spend some time on Saturday and Sunday walking around, looking at all the stuff there. I'm not a serious antique buff. I'm more of a walk down memory lane kind of gal. Maybe we can do a little shopping for the day? I can see myself visiting a pharmacy like this for the Dr. Scholls. I love this old victorian building that is still standing. This is one of my favorite antique shops. It is called Gem City and has the most fun stuff. The owner just happens to be a very good friend of mine. I love this photo. So, I bought this rock for a tote. The stone measures 17 x 10.7 x 1.5 inches. I like my odds of finding a suitable match
