Punmia Pdf.rar.Q: Executing a function on keypress I have this code which does what I want. `$('#input').on('keypress', function(e){ if(e.which === 32){ // This is the'space' key // How do I run this function? $('#button').addClass('done'); $('#button').removeClass('active'); } else { // What do I do here? $('#button').addClass('active'); } });` However, how can I run a function on keypress? I'd like to perform another function once a key is pressed (say addClass and removeClass). Thanks in advance! A: 1) First, you need to pass a function reference in the on event 2) Then you need to call it inside the event `on('keypress', (function() { // How do I run this function? // Here i pass a function reference function action(){ $('#button').addClass('done');`
